ACEA PROMOTED TO LEADERSHIP CLASS OF CARBON DISCLOSURE PROJECT RATING

Rome, 22 February 2024 – The Carbon Disclosure Project (CDP) promotes ACEA among the leaders in the fight against climate change. The company has in fact obtained the "A-" rating, thus improving on last year's "B" in the CDP Climate Questionnaire. CDP is the international company of reference for monitoring the performance of companies and institutions in the fight against climate change.

ACEA ranks in the "Leadership" bracket, i.e. among the most important companies committed to fighting climate change, in line with the Paris Agreement objectives, placing itself above the European average (B rating) and energy utility average (B rating).

The top marks were obtained in the Governance, Target, Climate risk management and Carbon emissions disclosure areas within scope 1, 2 and 3.

The upgrade by CDP and the recent commitment to the definition of science-based targets to reduce CO₂ emissions - approved by the SBTi in September 2023 - are significant acknowledgments of ACEA's ongoing commitment to fighting climate change, which is at the core of its corporate strategy and in line with the path towards energy transition undertaken worldwide.
